Tree Selection, Supply and Planting

Selection and Supply ~ The selection of planting stock is one of the most important decisions to be made when establishing trees. Matt The Tree Fella will choose high quality planting stock appropriate to your tree planting objectives and budget. We can substantially improve growth and survival of your tree crop.

Planting ~ Correct planting techniques can make the difference between any successful tree establishment and failure. Our qualified staff can make sure that your site is prepared (with adequate drainage if necessary) and that positioning of the tree is optimal before the final planting takes place.

Policy Formulation

Matt The Tree Fella has considerable experience in the formulation of tree management policy for owners of sites with high levels of public access. In order to enable effective management of trees for duty of care, we prioritise and survey arboricultural works to meet budgetary restraints. Matt The Tree Fella has devised a range of specialist systems for evaluating levels of risk across sites.

Tree Surveys and Reports

Our highly experienced and efficient Arborists undertake surveys ranging from detailed individual tree inspections to inventories for larger growth populations. Our reports will provide the client with a record of all their trees (with photographs if required), the condition of those trees and will detail what, (if any) work is required. Our detailed Tree Reports will also pick up early signs of tree stress, disease and decay and suggest appropriate courses of action. We will also prioritise when the work should be done.
